Lately, it seems like companies don't use regular color names for their products. Instead of brown, they'll say "chocolate," or "rose" instead of red. It's very fashionable and nice. There's "champagne gold," "mint," "wine," "ruby," "cherry," "chocolat," "caramel," "natto," "rice," "miso soup," "pickled plums," "and now," "booger-colored," "volume," "75," will begin!!

-Eiichiro Oda, 2014

Eiichiro Oda began his manga career at the age of 17, when his one-shot cowboy manga Wanted! won second place in the coveted Tezuka manga awards. Oda went on to work as an assistant to some of the biggest manga artists in the industry, including Nobuhiro Watsuki, before winning the Hop Step Award for new artists. His pirate adventure One Piece, which debuted in Weekly Shonen Jump in 1997, quickly became one of the most popular manga in Japan.

Q: Odacchi!!
Let's begin the PTA!!
--Oriori

A: The Parent-Teacher Association!!! ㄟㄟ
The parents are taking over! Why would they do that?! It's the SBS, silly! Okay, let's get started.

Q: Now that the midterms are nearly here, there's only one thing for me to do.
I'm gonna be king of the pirates!!
--Momota-ro

You're making a BIG mistake with your life, sonny.

Q: Odacchi! Hello. Remember when you introduced the sexy dynamite Naval Admiral Momousagi in the section on page 86 of Volume 74? Well, how about this design for Admiral Chaton (Brown Pig), who asked her out a hundred times and got shot down a hundred times? ➡
--Hideyan of Akaike

A: Um, since he's not actually an admiral...he must be one of the potential admirals who were in the running along with Momousagi. You're talking about this ➡ Vice Admiral Chaton, right?! I found him in my sketchbook. As a matter of fact, for a time I was considering making the next group of admirals based on a pig and kappa, the water imp. That way, I'd have monkey, pig and kappa, just like in Journey to the West. Instead I went with the tiger and Bull I'm using now. There's a reason for that, but I'm not saying.

(Captain Y, Osaka)

Q: I was reading Volume 63 and stopping to look at how cute Shirahoshi was, and realized something. The former slave girl who Tiger brought home to her village was named Koala, right?? Right?!!!!

Well, why don't you explain it all, Mr. Oda?!!

--Grand Red Apple

A: That's right. If anyone didn't notice the connection, I'm perfectly happy with them treating her as a new character, But I was glad to see that many folks realized who she was. The people of the Revolutionary Army all have their own reasons for opposing the way the world works, But if you look at her title of "Assistant Fish-man Karate Master" and where she started, you can see what kind of life she's been through, and it brings a tear to your eye. To me, Koala's lived the exact opposite life of Hody, and that makes her very meaningful to me.

Q: Nice to meet you. I'm a shark-loving 24-year-old woman. Sharks are famous for having two penises. Does that mean that Hody has two penises too? How many penises do you have, Odacchi?

--I Want Shirahoshi for My Wife

A: They have two?! $\frac{1}{2}$ Sharks have two?! I had no idea. That's a well-known fact?! I've drawn a ton of sharks, But I never knew that. Thanks for the tip. In that case, Hody has two. I guess instead of a ding-dong, he's got a "ding-ding-dong-dong"! I'm fine just having one.

Q: What are those things that look like tails growing from the 'Tontattas' butts?

--Maa

A: Um, tails. They might seem to be fluffy at first glance, but they have firm bone and muscle underneath. The tails help them move swiftly, and serve as powerful bludgeons in combat.

Q: I have a question. I always thought my husband had the Stick-Stick Fruit powers. His face and neck and armpits are always sticky. But if it turns out that Trebol had the Stick-Stick Fruit...then what powers does my husband have?

--Emukichi

A: He's just oily.

Q: Are the lighter that Sanji used in One Piece Film Z and the lighter from the opening theme song "Hands Up!" in the anime series actually the same thing?

--Cook-Obsessed A.K.

A: "Hands Up!" was the previous opening, right? I don't know if they used it there too, but when producing Film Z, I did a personal collaboration with the French company Dupont, and the lighter we designed went into the movie. As a matter of fact, it also showed up in Chapter 663 (Volume 67) of the manga. Did I mention this before? Whatever.

I bet you can see pictures if you just do an internet image search for "Dupont Oda." Sanji uses that lighter.

WHOOA !!

(Rio, Iwate)

Q: I have a question, Mr. Oda. These two fellows who love polka dots have to be the same person, right? I guess he really did see Ricky fight as a young man.

--Park Taguchi

A: You're referring to the scene in the present where the guy says he's seen the masked gladiator Ricky (secretly King Riku) fight before. In the past, there was indeed a masked fighter named Ricky. This person writing in wonders if this fellow in the stands was the same coliseum fan years ago. So close!! But you're on the right track. As a matter of fact, you can see him in a different flashback scene. See this fellow in Chapter 741? Doesn't he look exactly the same? Now look at the panel you originally pointed out, but look over his shoulder instead. That's him!! (ha ha)
So who is this connoisseur of the gladiatorial arts? He is Sawyer Wayback, age 56. He loves watching sword combat so much, his wife and kids left him, but he's doing all right!

Q: Good morning (at 3:00 AM). Look at Chapter 560 in Volume 57! When Luffy gave Hancock a bear hug, the Navy sailors called it a "sabaori" in Japanese, or a "mackerel snap." I've never heard this term before. Where does it come from?

--[T.T]

A: Sabaori is a sumo term, actually. It's a move where you leap onto the opponent with all your weight to push them over. The sailors must have assumed that's what he was doing when Hancock fainted away after that.

Q: As the representative of all young women, I have a statement for you.

No to Señor Pink! Just no!!

Odacchi, is that...what you're into...?

--Matsumokkuri, Girls' Rep

A: Yes!!! Yes all the way!!

Don't underestimate Señor, missy. It says here that you're seventeen years old. Well, young people have a tendency to judge others on their looks, But you'll see very soon. You'll see what a real man is like! You'll understand what it means to be hardboiled!! Just you wait!

Q: Here's a question. If I was chowing down on a tomato next to a pool, and I used a nearby babe's swimsuit to wipe my mouth, what would happen?

.....I know, right? She'll totally fall in love with me?! Okay, let's hit the pool! Woo-hoo!!

Odacchi... I got arrested... Why?!

--Chagero Kiyomizu's Wannabe Apprentice

A: Whoa... So you tried it too! Yeah, it's easy to look up to Señor. It says here you're thirteen now. First live another three decades, then just ooze coolness. I'm gonna draw how great Señor is, and that will be your guide! Also, that's a bad pen name. Don't turn out like him!

Q: Odacchi, nice to meet you! So what's Sugar's real age?! I've been so obsessed with her, Sugar's all I can think of during my exams! And I'm supposed to be preparing for college... Thanks to that, my test results were awful. ♡

--Gahara

A: Ah, I see. That's too bad. If I let you in on some behind-the-scenes stuff, it turns out she can't actually be all that old. Her appearance is frozen at age 10, but her actual age is 22. She's two years younger than Baby 5. Actually, why don't I just list the ages of the entire family?

Doflamingo

Trebol

Sugar

Violet

Giolla

Monet

Vergo

Diamante

Lao G

Machvise

Señor Pink

Dellinger

Pica

Gladius

Buffalo

Baby 5

They range from their teenage years to their 70s--no wonder they're called a "family." Well, that's all the time we have. No more SBS! Look forward to the results of the popularity poll in the next volume!
